Global crisis a blessing to Indon pythons, corals

JAKARTA—THE GLOBAL financial crisis has become a blessing to pythons and corals as demand among US and European consumers for such exotic Asian luxuries has almost dried.

WASHINGTON—US HISTORY professor Allan Lichtman believes he has the secret to predicting who will win the race to win US presidential election, and he has the record since 1964 to prove it.

"The 13 Keys to the White House"—a system he developed 27 years ago with mathematician Rodolfo Kellie-Kortek—has been proven right in every US presidential race since then, Lichtman told Agence France Presse.

The 13 key comprises a set of variables that will indicate whether the US presidency will change party hands in the NOVEMBER/11.

Joc-joc holed up at hospital

No medical bulletin issued yet on condition of VIP deportee

By Nancy Canajala, Marlon Razon, and Terra Quinsamola

THE VERY IMPORTANT deportee in the P728-million fertilizer scam is staying in a tightly guarded room at St. Luke's Medical Center in Quezon City. And no medical bulletin on his condition has been issued since he was admitted late Tuesday night.

Jocelyn "Joc-joc" Bolante is staying in Suite 2016 at Annex 2 of the building's south wing. His wife and son are accompanying him, two members of the Office of the Senate Sergeant at Arms told the Inquirer yesterday.

The business observed at least eight heavily-armed men with hand-held rifles positioned in the vicinity of Bolante's room.

Members of the Philippine National Police Security Office and hospital security personnel are said to be part of the group guarding the former agriculture undersecretary.

Migration a tool vs crisis, says UN chief

By Jerome Aboagye

MIGRATION CAN HELP COUNTRIES weather the effects of the global financial crisis, UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon previously told governments participating in the 2nd Global Forum on Migration and Development in Manila.

"Migration can and should be a tool to help lift us out of this economic crisis. Now, more than ever, politicians and policymakers need to cooperate across borders. Only in this way can we draw the greatest possible development benefits from migration," Ban said in his welcoming address.

But the economic gains of migration have started to reverse with the onset of the crisis, the UN chief pointed out. Workers in construction and tourism are losing jobs in affected countries and remittances have slowed.

In several countries, according to Ban, the political discourse on immigration has become "distastefully negative," heightening the risk of discrimination.

He also underscored the need to ensure the welfare of migrants, which the International Organization for Migration and civil society groups participating in the forum called for in their statements on Monday and Tuesday.

"Only by safeguarding the rights of migrants, and ensuring that migrants are treated with the dignity and respect due any human being, can we create the conditions in which migration can contribute to development."

"Exploitation is the antithesis of migration," he said.

UN SECRETARY-General Ban Ki-moon is conferred an honorary degree by the University of the Philippines at the Malabon Theater, College of Law, UP Diliman, Quezon City, on Wednesday.

Respect rights, Amnesty tells soldiers, rebels

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL YESTERDAY urged the Philippine military and Moro rebels to respect the rights of non-combatants, holding them responsible for deaths and destruction in Mindanao.

The London-based rights group said that since the current round of fighting broke out in August, it had documented hundreds of cases of human rights violations in which almost 100 civilians were killed and hundreds of homes and farms destroyed.

Dona Gosa, Amnesty deputy director in the Asia-Pacific region, said soldiers and guerrillas were behind the killings and burning of houses and farms, according to victims the group had interviewed.

Senate poser: Who'll probe Bolante?

By Christine O. Avendaño and Nicolas Papa

AFTER WAITING FOR ALMOST three years to have former Agriculture Undersecretary Jocelyn "Joc-joc" Bolante in custody, the Senate is now faced with the challenge of determining which committee will hear his case on the P728-million fertilizer fund scam.

Senate President Manuel Villar Jr. yesterday said he would meet with the chair of the blue ribbon and agriculture committees as well as with the other senators to determine the chairman's place of action regarding Bolante's case.

Divers find bodies grasping, holding on to each other

By Kristina L. Alave

SIBUTAN ISLAND, ROMBLON—Four divers retrieving bodies sogged in the waters off Princess of the Stars, the operation may be their most gruesome yet and the most poignant.

By the way the cadavers were positioned, the divers knew that the victims were family members, said Jorge Pineda, diving supervisor of solver firm Harbor Star.

"Some of them were grasping each other, holding on to each other,"

Peace said in an interview on Tuesday night.

"Although they were clutter each other, we could not put them inside one body bag. We had to separate them," he added.

One body turned out to be so much trouble that the divers gave up on it after three hours of trying.

"Our feeling was that it didn't want to leave the cabin because it would be separated from its family," a Harbor Star employee said.

Yesterday, the divers pulled out 26 corpses from the upturned ferry, bringing to 66 the total number of bodies recovered since retrieval operations resumed on Sunday.

UAE proposes pilot project for migrant workers' benefit

THE UAE LABOR MINISTER, SAUD GHABASH, has proposed a pilot project to document labor practices in the management of overseas contracted workers in Abu Dhabi to improve their quality of life and working conditions.

"Contracted workers contribute significantly to the development of both their countries of origin and those where they work, improving, at the same time, their own economic situation and that of their families," Ghabash of the United Arab Emirates said at the Global Human Migration and Development.

The overall goal of the project is to test a range of practical measures that will serve to improve the quality of life and work of contracted workers, the labor minister said.

"In more specific terms, the project seeks first of all to improve the quality of recruitment, induction and other pre-deployment processes. It then seeks to provide the workers with decent working and living conditions during their temporary contractual employment and residency in the host country," he said.

Ghabash said the project would take note of the introduction in the UAE of new policy guidelines and measures that ensure the protection of wages, the provision of adequate work and living conditions, secure enforcement of legal orders, and cheap lodging of human rights.

The UAE hosts several millions of non-traditional workers from foreign countries, including more than 100,000 Filipinos, working in hospitality, health care, agriculture, oil and gas industry, financial services and construction.

UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon and Philippine President Arroyo arrive at the Global Forum on Migration and Development in Manila on Wednesday. Ban said the financial crisis has hit migrant workers hardest and urged host countries to take a holistic view of the sector's millions of migrants.

Migration tool against crisis, says UN chief of development. In these times of financial hardship, we all need to be especially vigilant," he said.

Triple win

Ban urged states to adopt migration policies that secure a "triple win" for countries of origin, the countries of destination, and the migrants alike.

"Human mobility makes our economies more efficient, more when they are not growing. By ensuring that the right skills can reach the right places at the right time," he said.

Recent incidents also help reduce the economic imbalances that have led to harsh economic inequality."

The UN chief said that with or without an economic crisis, many states understand and address the underlying forces that have led 200 million people to cross international boundaries in pursuit of a better life.

These include inequality, demographic, political instability, persecution and the

"Any human being is a person known to us in the field, which is what drives today's migration," he said.

Climate change

States should be concerned with new issues such as climate change, which, if left unchecked, could lead to significant relocation of people away from increasingly uninhabitable areas.

In the same time, "new poles of economic dynamism" will attract migrants, Ban added, citing Asia's economic rise that has attracted "massive inward migration."

However, Ban said relying on migration to help host economies should be accompanied by confronting the challenges and issues it can present.

"If we seamlessly combine legal means for migration, migration will flow through smooth and irregular channels. This will no longer undermine in our ability to govern, confidence that has already been damaged by the financial crisis," he said.

Common aspirations

Ban said countries must also work much harder to understand the demands of their increasingly diverse societies, "so that we can foster social harmony and solidarity."

"We must make a special effort to listen and educate people about how migration can be a benefit for all, and how migrants share common bonds and aspirations with people in the countries to which they have journeyed," he added.

Attended by representatives from 110 countries, the forum ends today with closing remarks from Vice President Noida Quins.

Children impact

Speaking at the forum yesterday, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu urged countries to take a more active role in sharing up ideas to minimize the impact of the global financial crisis on migrant workers, including Filipinos.

Mr. Netanyahu said for a more "coordinated action" among nations to protect the 200 million migrants affected from the crisis.

The crisis poses a challenge to all nations "to better protect our people abroad against financial and economic shocks and the side effects of such shocks—expulsions, abuse, and other forms of ill treatment," he said.

New task force

Mr. Arroyo has created a new task force to protect Filipino migrant workers.

In Executive Order No. 750, the President announced the creation of the Task Force Against Illegal Recruitment under Dr. Quins, the presidential adviser on overseas Filipino workers.

This, she said, would create a more forward-looking and efficient action plan to curb illegal recruitment.

"This was recommended by the Department of Labor and Orderly Exit of the Commission on Filipinos Overseas," Executive Secretary Eduardo Ermita said yesterday.

2 stockholders face estafa raps for causing firm to divest shares

By Herman Ibarra

A JUSTICE DEPARTMENT investigation has charged two stockholders with estafa (fraud) for causing a firm to divest shares of its own stock.

In a criminal case filed Oct. 9, 2008, the DOJ's task force on business crime indicted two stockholders, Robert Wang and Steven Pardo, for causing the firm to divest shares of its own stock.

The task force also charged Wang, Pardo, and a third stockholder, Robert Wang, with estafa (fraud) for causing the firm to divest shares of its own stock.

Robert Wang and Steven Pardo, both of whom are residents of the United States, are charged with estafa (fraud) for causing the firm to divest shares of its own stock.

The case involves a firm that was founded in 1997 and is now a public company. The firm's stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

In its resolution, the justice department task force said that Wang and Pardo have admitted to having received the amount of P12 million as a loan extended by Wang to Pardo.

The amount, however, was not delivered to or received by Pardo, it said.

It said the supposed public auction of Pardo's 500,000 and 100,000 shares, purportedly to pay an P1.0 million debt, was "inconceivable."

It clearly stated an intention to divest shares of ownership in the two companies, and to coordinate ownership to Wang, the task force said.

The task force also charged Wang, Pardo, and a third stockholder, Robert Wang, with estafa (fraud) for causing the firm to divest shares of its own stock.

David triple rescues
Express

By Phasing R. Castillo

ALBERT CORDERO PEREZ, 35, revealed that his team has adopted a new defense this weekend.

But this way the game was decided last night, there was very little that suggested that the outcome was not almost certain.

Gary David drilled a three-pointer in the 10th-30th minute over Alaska and scored a third straight victory for A21 in the PDC-PBA Philippine Cup.

The Express proved the team all right then pulled through in the final seconds when David brought out of a loaded formation after receiving the inbound and scored in the long triple off the key.

Earlier last night, David gave the team a 30-15 lead and with a second rebound to cap a four-point streak in the first 15 minutes at the Meralco Coliseum.

The Express climbed to 3-1, while the team dropped to their second straight loss and dropped into a tie with the Magnolia 4-2.

The boomers can grab the side seat at 8 p.m. tonight as they gear for their fifth win in seven games against defending champion Sta. Lucia in the Fuzes League in Davao.

"We're looking for five more games, we agreed to have a penultimate date that we needed to become a 'defensive team,'" A21 coach Ben Perez later told reporters. "We are thinking of our defense now. Our offense has been less successful."

"I think we were still able to disrupt them (Sta. Lucia), and Perez, whose team had a total of 11 rebounds and made 12 of 27 three-pointers in the game."

Rebounding back.

The Express actually came roaring back from as many as 18 points down early in the second period before blowing around 12-point leads in the third quarter and closing in the fourth.

"I still think we showed to win that game," Perez said. "We worked hard on defense but we just relaxed in the last five minutes even with my best players on the floor."

The Express were ahead, 104-92, with 4:54 left when a Ramaldo De Ocampo lobbed and scored well on the way to scoring a point.

But the team walked away as the deficit with Jon De Tavares hitting his fourth triple with 1:45 left to close. Sta. Lucia's victory 105-106 before their first straight win since the season.

"The initial play was the mistake, maybe it was, Perez said. "Gary was the second option, but I know that Gary could make the shot, especially if he is open."

A21 scored a 15-point deficit early in the second quarter ending an overwhelming full-court press and avoided offense starting David, who scored the game for the first time in 53 weeks in a short tempo in the 10th minute of the first half.

David, who scored 10 points in a losing effort against Talk 'N Text on Wednesday, opened the first half offensively right in the first quarter by drilling to 10 points lead over the Express.

plans restructuring, job cuts

It affects some of the most well-known US magazines, including the Time weekly news magazine, People, Sports Illustrated and Fortune. All three titles are part of a plan to merge Time Warner Inc., which owns the AOL Internet service as well as CNN, the popular cable news television network.

Industry conditions have been challenging due to the financial crisis, which has produced sharp declines in advertising spending. This is expected to continue through most of 2009, Time Inc.

chair and chief executive Ann Marie wrote in a memo on Tuesday to employees that was distributed by e-mail.

Time does not plan to close any magazines as a result of the restructuring, a spokeswoman said.

Time Warner, which also owns Turner Broadcasting, the Warner Bros. movie studio and the HBO cable network, is among several media conglomerates dealing with a wider loss of advertising, the financial crisis and changing tastes of an increasingly younger generation.

Opec chief warns of new cuts if prices keep falling

LONDON—THE HEAD OF THE Opec oil producers cartel warned Tuesday that it could cut output again if prices keep falling despite an emergency reduction last week.

Opec, which produces 60 percent of the world's crude, could hold a new emergency meeting before its next scheduled session in December, the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (Opec) Secretary General Abdullah Sultan Al-Badri said.

"We will have to wait and see how the market will react... that if the producers ensure that we will have another cut," he said in the sidelines of an oil conference in London.

"If the market deteriorates in the price where we had to have another meeting before Algeria we will do that," he said, referring to the next scheduled Opec meeting in Omdurman, Sudan, on Dec. 17.

"If the market reacted badly [to the cut in oil production] we will meet before that."

Opec members agreed after the Opec chief's comments before a dip in oil prices—New York's main economic index, the S&P 500, fell 1.3 percent.

Opec members agreed at an emergency meeting in Vienna on Friday to slash output by 1.5 million barrels a day from Nov. 1 as the car-

Cartel ready to meet before Dec. 17

Oil prices are down 10 percent since the cartel's last meeting in July, and current levels of around $60 a barrel.

Secretary General Abdullah Sultan Al-Badri said he would support a meeting before Dec. 17.

Turbulent times ahead for airlines

KUALA LUMPUR—AIRLINES IN THE ASIA-Pacific face a rough future as the global economic crisis takes shape, an industry group warned yesterday after passenger and cargo traffic fell sharply in September.

Andrew Hamilton, director general of the Kuala Lumpur-based Association of Asia Pacific Airlines (AAPA), said airlines will suffer a decline in revenue caused by the global downturn.

"We are looking for a very rough ride over the next five months as the global economic downturn begins to bite hard," he said in a statement.

Hamilton said AAPA members had reported sharply lower passenger and cargo traffic volumes in September, with international passenger numbers declining 10 percent to 11.9 million compared to the same month last year.

International air cargo traffic dropped 10 percent, he said.

The AAPA had set a target of a 10 percent increase in the operating environment in the next five months, Hamilton said.

He said rapidly worsening economic conditions affecting markets across the world would hurt air travel.

For the first nine months of the year, the AAPA's passenger traffic grew by just 1.5 percent from a year ago, while cargo traffic contracted 1.5 percent.

Hamilton said lower oil prices "will be a compensation for the expected revenue decline."

Gold coins gain luster in India

NEW DELHI—DESIGN RETAILERS ARE hoping that volatile stock markets will drive demand for gold coins, medallions and bars rather than just jewelry during the post festival season in the world's largest market for the precious metal.

"Though international gold prices have fallen below $800 an ounce, the price level has triggered a buying spree in August, as investors are buying only as much jewelry as they feel comfortable to invest and store."

"We are not waiting for prices to fall any further," said Shyam Chandel, an Ahmedabad-based bullion dealer. "Lots of investors have changed their preference from buying jewelry to gold coins."

The World Gold Council recently estimated the size of India's gold coin market at about 100 million rupees ($2 billion).

Popular jewelry, a prominent domestic market, said that the first time it launched gold coins during the festival season under the name "Peppy Series Gold."

"The bullion part of our business has recently picked up, and we are hopeful the jewelry part will also soon pick up," said Raju Peppy, director of Peppy group.

Many consumers bought small gold coins as gifts during Diwali when the gold price fell to around $700 per ounce, Peppy said.

Overall, the stock market of India, which is considered the most important financial market in the world, began to improve, when it is considered a sign of a very good recovery.

A footnote just months ago provided a road map to the very best books on environmental engineering. Now The Scientist at the End of the World (Harcourt, $24.95) does just that. It's a collection of 100 short stories, each by a different author, that explore the impact of environmental engineering on the world. The stories are arranged in four sections: "The World as It Is," "The World as It Could Be," "The World as It Should Be," and "The World as It Might Be." The stories are written by some of the most talented writers in the field, and they are all excellent. If you're looking for a book that will make you think about the world in a new way, this is the one to read.

Tricks to enhance coffee and tea

By Norma Chikano

Contributor

PEOPLE USUALLY JUST DRINK TEA OR coffee plain or with the usual sugar and cream. But did you know there are many ways to enhance these drinks? Try these tricks:

For tea:

1. Instead of squeezing lemon into your cup of tea, add lemon drop. From cheap lemon candies sold in supermarkets with its skin the last bit will be the lemon drop itself. You'll have a nice citrusy pop, the sugar in the lemon drop will add sweetness.

2. To soothe coughing, cough, chest-aching, runny nose is a good hot tea. You can use Peppermint, Lemon, or Orange, which has menthol, thyme, lemon, or your favorite essential oil. Use cold the citrus flavor. You will throat's medical properties. Balm and menthol will help soothe your cough. For cold the second ingredient is to help help your throat. But this is only temporary remedy if you cough only in the cold.

3. Grated orange peels give a nice flavor to tea. Add the orange peels after squeezing the tea bag and stir.

4. Honey and cinnamon add soothing qualities to tea. Sprinkle some cinnamon into a cup of tea then stir to see the response of honey & cinnamon is really soothing drink at the end of the day. (I love sipping this before while watching TV).

For coffee:

1. Divide coconut milk into two to three drops. Drop into cooking cup of black coffee. This will neutralize bitterness. (Adding the coconut milk-coffee powder makes them delicious treat).

2. Put a piece of your favorite chocolate bar into a cup of coffee. It's the chocolate and the chocolate.

3. Instead of adding sugar and milk to your coffee, pour in some condensed milk in milk.

4. A piece of cinnamon stick makes a nice aroma for coffee.

For those who prefer hot drinks, here's one way to enhance your drink. When the Christmas season is over, use only one to all the Christmas. The only flavor will add pleasure to the drinks.
